the extraordinary cultural renaissance in the northern italian courts of the late 15th and early 16th centuries is the subject of this volume it starts with baldassar castiglione's book of the courtier 1528 which encapsulates this sense of renewal his experiences at court and their subsequent rewriting form the backbone of the work the author then addresses questions of biography gender genre and the varied roles of the courtier expanding the perspective of castiglione's text to include the lives and writings of other courtiers and patrons what was it like to be a courtier what were the problems associated with such a lifestyle the importance of women in court circles is also highlighted in studies of one of the most notable of female patrons isabella d'este 1474-1539 and of the theoretical developments in writing about gender stimulated by such women stephen kolsky's analysis of both well known and comparatively obscure texts brings out the diversity of practices that constituted court society and their centrality to our understanding of the renaissance in the last decade or so many books have been devoted to the history of europe two conceptual axes predominate in a large number of these accounts a discourse focusing on europe's values and another discourse fashioned largely in opposition to the first which emphasizes the process of european construction the first conceives of europe's past teleologically as a process by which certain values christian ethics individualism capitalism tolerance republicanism due process etc were affirmed and came to define european culture the second approach rejects the discourse on values emphasizes the post enlightenment emergence of the concept of europe and the political and ideological implications in its continuous redefinitions and re elaborations during the past two or more centuries this volume offers new approaches that integrate the long temporal dimension of the values based approach albeit devoid of its teleological element with the constructivist interpretation
